

Garry the Goat

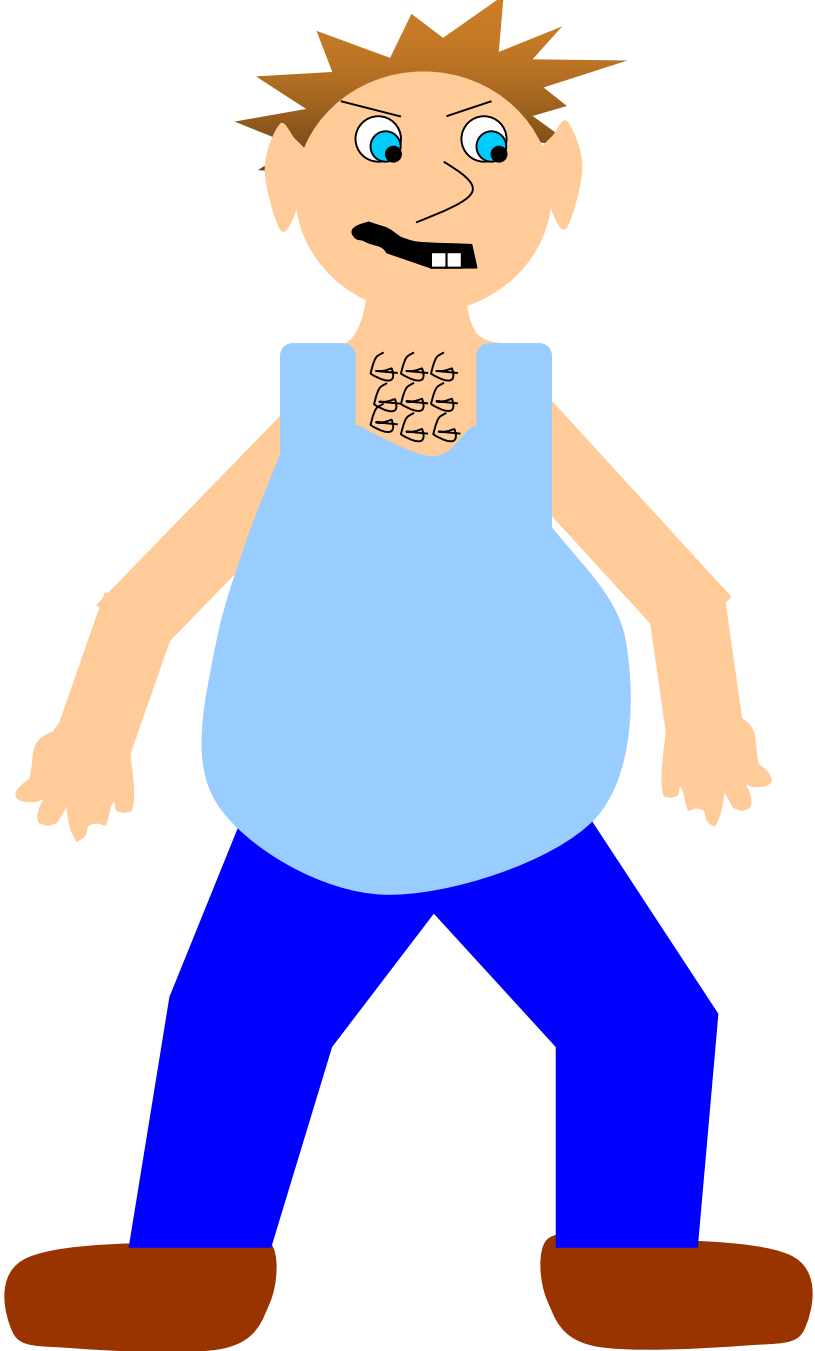

Written and Illustrated by Daniel Rodrigues

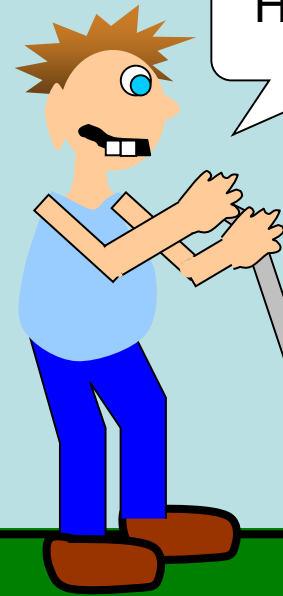

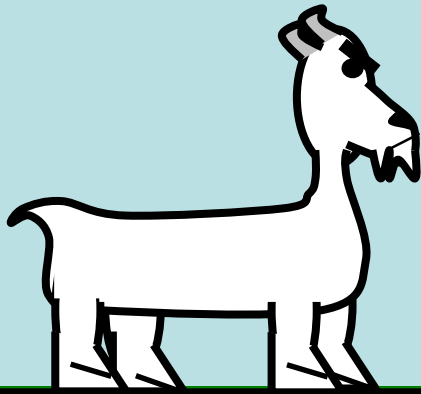

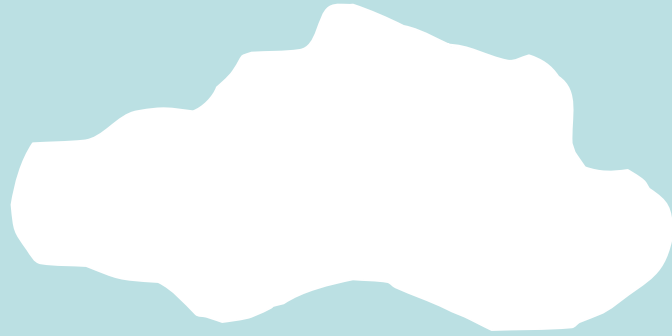

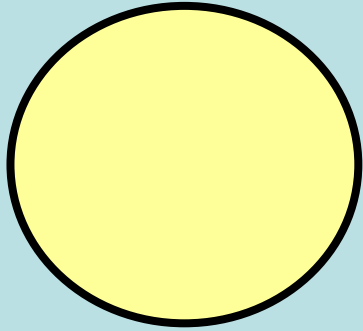

Garry the goat liked his grass.
He would chew on it all day and all night.

What really got Garry's goat
though was a naughty little boy named Alan.

Alan would mow the lawns and have all the grass to himself, knowing full well that Garry liked eating grass. This made Garry very angry since he had no grass to eat.

Ha Ha Ha!!!!

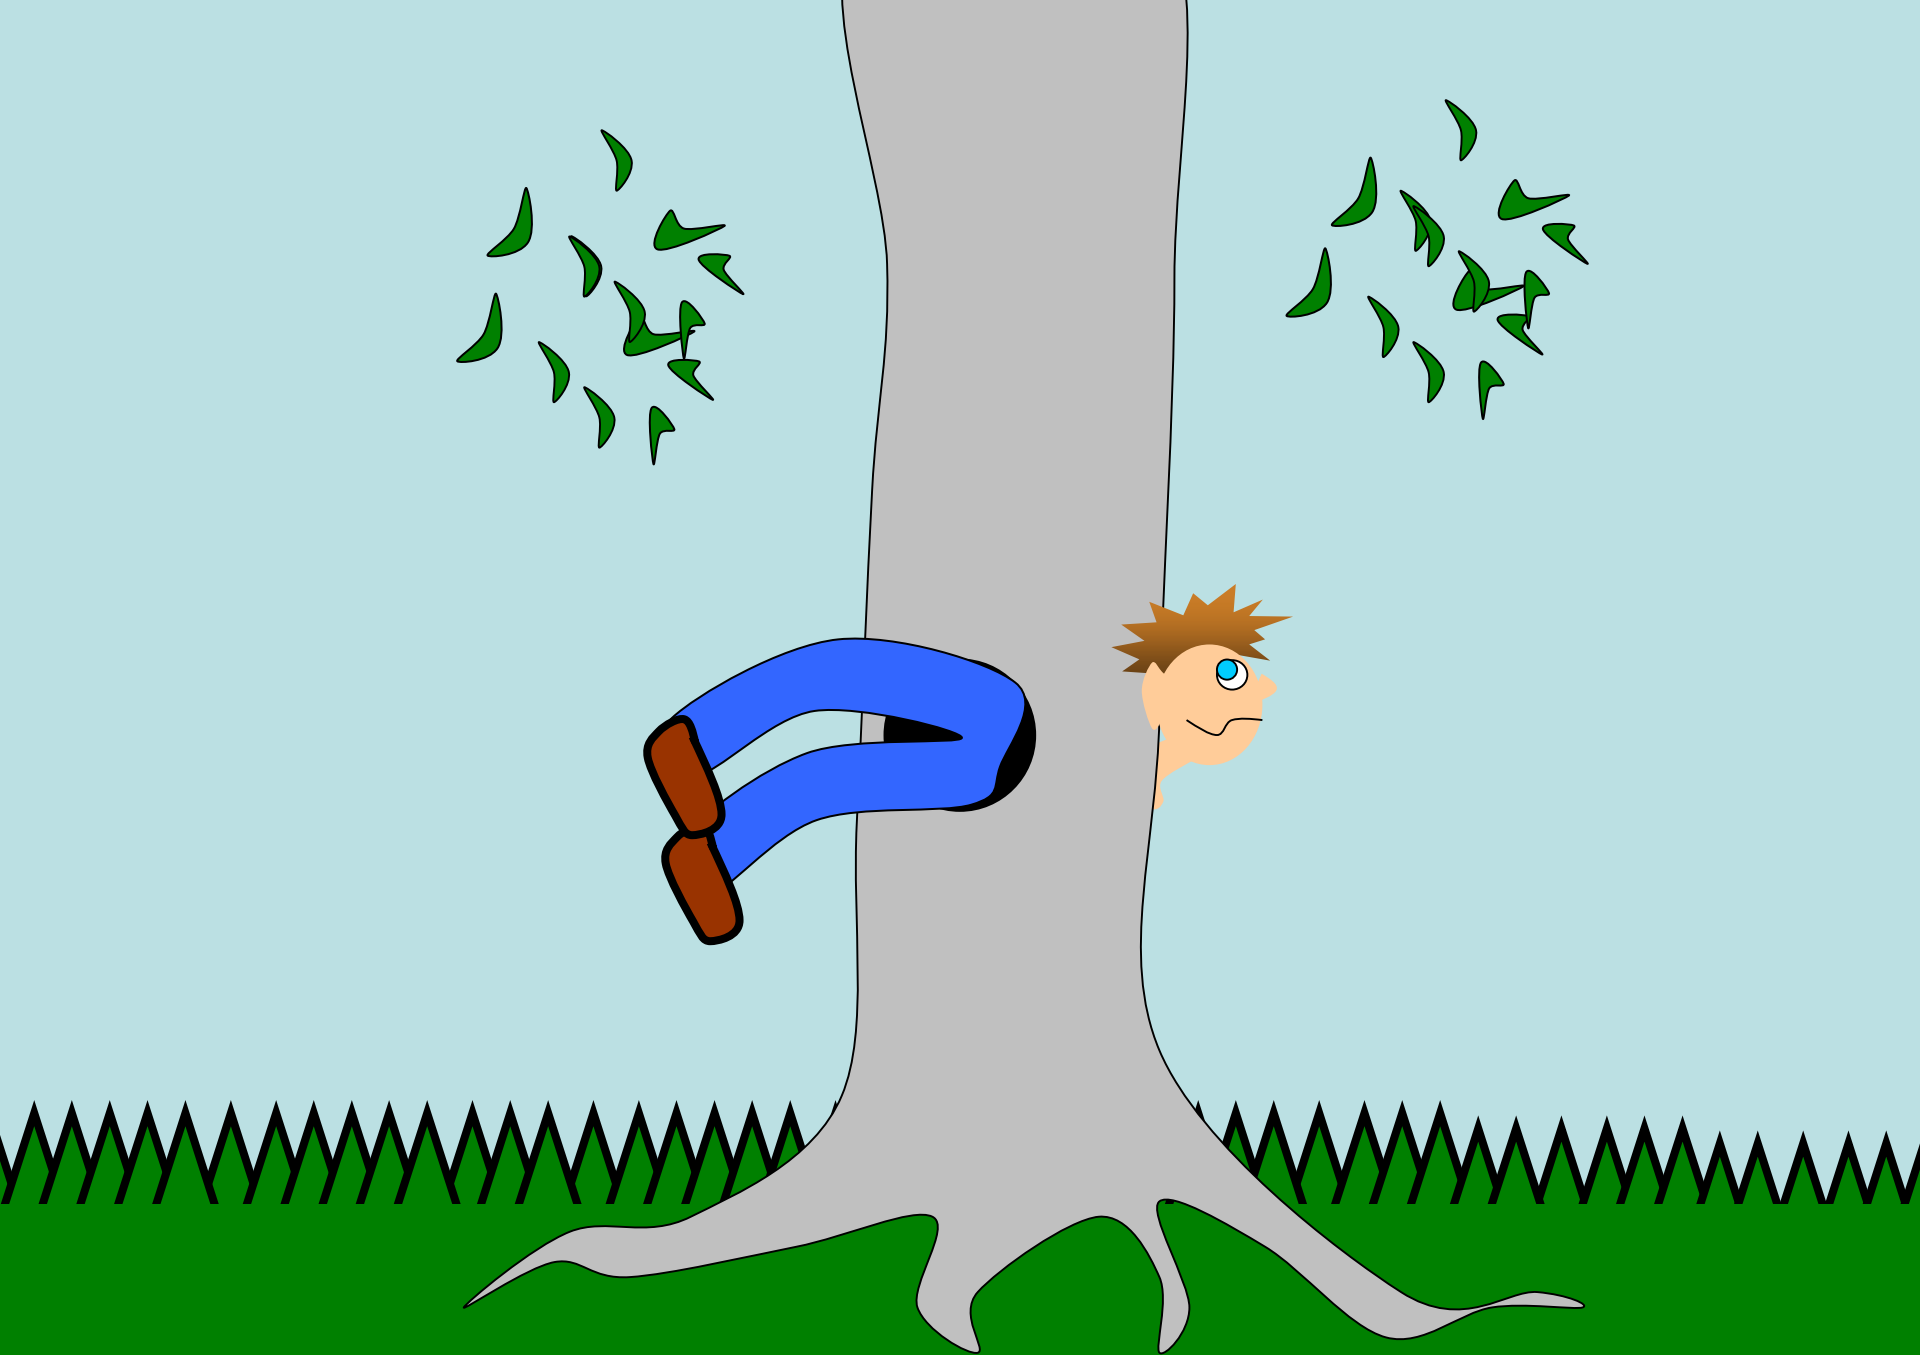

One day while Alan was mowing
the lawn, Garry decided to take some action.

Garry started to charging
towards Alan and with his head,
he headbutted Alan's bottom.

Alan went flying and he landed
on a tree.

With Alan gone, Garry can now
eat his grass.
